

What to do in the Treasure Valley this summer!

1. Take photos of the beautiful Boise skyline, or check out the Platt Gardens, at The Boise Depot
2. Grab your blanket and telescope and stargaze at Dedication Point in Kuna
3. Stop by to see the elusive Red Panda at Zoo Boise on a Thursday
4. Let your inner art critic out at the Boise Art Museum on First Thursday
5. Slide down the Hyrdotube at Natatorium Pool
6. Got a fishing license? If not, don't worry! Get a daily pass and then check out the local fishing holes in Boise
7. Bike along the Greenbelt
8. Play disc golf at Ann Morrison Park
9. Volunteer with a local non-profit organization
10. Make some music in Settlers Park's sound garden
11. Practice getting some air at Tully Park
12. Take a hike to Table Rock
13. Visit Julius M. Kleiner Park to play on the splash pad
14. Go on a nature walk at MK Nature Center
15. Check out the old cell blocks at the Old Idaho Penitentiary
16. Go bird watching at Kathryn Albertson Park
17. Climb to the top of the hill in Camel's Back Park and sit back and watch the clouds pass by
18. Stroll through the Idaho Botanical Garden between 7:30 am- 9 am on Tuesday or Thursdays and enjoy free admission
19. Learn about Idaho's involvement in military endeavors around the globe at the Idaho Military Museum
20. Check out the latest murals in Freak Alley in downtown Boise
21. Learn about Basque culture at the Basque Museum and Cultural Center and then stop by a local Basque eatery to try some yummy croquettes
22. Learn about local and state government at the Idaho State Capitol building
23. Nibble on some samples at either of Boise's local farmers markets
24. Stop and smell the roses at Julia Davis Park
25. Find inspiration and hope at the Idaho Anne Frank Human Rights Memorial

Stop by the Women's and Children's Alliance Pinterest page for more ideas and inspiration. There are lots of ideas for conversation starters, do-it-yourself projects, and the links for this guide can also be found on this page. Have a very happy and healthy summer!